CONCLUSION

- The new system is successful in maintaining various data of customer.
- the computerized system arrange all documents systematically and sequentially.
- Today, in the fast world, we as man want to work fast and want sophisticated system to work with. This project will fulfil user's all requirement.
- We have tried to make the software as user friendly as possible so as to bring efficiency in the work.
- This project work really gives us opportunity to learn more and more about development of any project.